Hey!

Are you still on Gold King "response" duty?

Obviously, now EPA is asking about ALL mines that could pose a similar hazard. Your awesome database for U mines has proven very handy. Did anyone in your former organization do anything even somewhat similar with other mine operations?

Stumbled on an inventory of mines (somewhat like the Anderson report) in the Magdalena area from 1986. Does anything exist that may help in identifying old mines that could "blow?"
